

POETRY.

"The World and the World."

"If all the world must see the world,
As the world the world hath seen,
Then it were better for the world
That the world had never been!
Yet if the world would see the world
As the world the world might see,
Then a happier world than this old world
Perhaps could never be.
Oh, world, that lives upon the world!
You travel far too slow!
Oh world, green grave of all the world,
How wondrous swift you go."

FARM AND GARDEN.

A Western farmer recommends for scratches on horses an ointment made of equal parts of tar, sulphur and lard, applied every day.

It is said that a tree fallen while in leaf, and permitted to lie until the foliage withers, will season more rapidly than if the limbs are lopped off, as the leaves draw out all the sap before they die.

HOME MADE CANDLES.—Many of our readers in the rural districts will find that candles can be made economically by mixing a little melted beeswax with the tallow to give durability to the candles and to prevent its "running." The light from a tallow candle can be improved in clearness and brilliancy by using small wicks which have been dipped in spirits of turpentine, and thoroughly dried.

TO MAKE FRESH YEAST.—Thicken two quarts of water with three spoonfull of flour, boil half an hour, sweeten with half a pound of coarse brown sugar; when almost cold put in four spoonfulls of fresh yeast, put the whole in a jug, shake it well together and leave uncovered one day near the fire to ferment. Skim off the scum and cork for use. Succession may always be had in this way, taking four spoonfulls of the old to ferment the new yeast.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.—Among the acts of the General Assembly, passed at this session, we would call attention particularly to the one proposing to regulate the issuing of checks to laborers upon plantations or elsewhere. Unless there is a special contract, employers are required to pay their laborers, whether by the day, week, month or year, in United States bank notes or fractional currency, and persons violating this act are liable to a fine and imprisonment. This is a down right imposition upon both the employer and laborer, although the penalties are only imposed upon the employer. The poor laborer unless there is a special contract, cannot receive for his day's work anything but United States bank notes or fractional currency, which may not be convenient for his employer to pay, and where provisions or any other equivalent would answer his demands fully as well. Even gold and silver must be especially contracted for, in order to avoid the penalties of this law.

THE FARMERS' CLUB.—The club is to the farmer, old or young, a school. He is learning all the time how to express his views clearly. The views of his neighbor draws out new thoughts on new subjects, and these thoughts find expression. Lawyers gain strength by long years of study and then by practice at the bar. The young lawyer making his first speech is as miserable and as awkward as the young farmer making his first public effort. The lawyer's business compels him to swallow embarrassment and annoyance, and goods him on to effort upon effort. The young farmer, not feeling the necessity for this, makes no further venture. The lawyer goes on and becomes famous as a good talker, and a fine responder. The same practice would have made the young farmer as good a talker, and a stronger, more efficient worker in his field of duty. The experiences of well educated farmers bring this and strength. We advise the organization of township clubs on the simplest plan. Arrange the meetings to suit the convenience of all parties, and let the attendance be as regular as church going.
